

APPROPRIATION IS INCREASED FOR 'MODEL' SCHOOL

Berkeley Institution to Be Conducted Jointly by City and University.

BERKELEY, Dec. 28.—Increasing the appropriation to $2500, the Board of Education yesterday granted an additional $1000 for the conducting of the old Garfield intermediate school at Shattuck avenue and Vine street into a "model" elementary building.

The building will be used at the beginning of the new school term for the University elementary school, to be conducted jointly by the Berkeley school officials and the University of California's department of education on a plan similar to that in operation at University high school in Oakland.

Owing to the fact that the old Garfield school was formerly used for intermediate purposes many changes in the building are necessary for the younger pupils to be enrolled. At the last meeting of the board $1500 was allowed for the remodeling of the manual training room into a kindergarten.

The contract for excavating and grading at the Jefferson school, Sacramento and Rose streets, where extensive additions and improvements are to be made, was let yesterday to Frank Aze of Richmond for $4900. Aze was the lowest of three bidders. The remaining contracts for other phases of construction were awarded several weeks ago and work on the building will start immediately.

Miss Anna M. Crump was appointed as teacher of academic and commercial subjects in the part time continuation high school, while a leave of absence was granted to Miss Helen Kinnell of Edison school.

DINING ROOM ON LAKE FOR DUCKS BEING PLANNED

Now that the annual duck immigration is a regular institution in Oakland, the board of park directors has decided to make permanent arrangements for their reception and feeding in place of the makeshift customs which "Just growed" during the last two years. Superintendent Leo Kerfoot and Architect Howard Gilkey were yesterday instructed by the park board to formulate a complete plan for the permanent handling of Oakland's feathered guests.

At present the ducks are fed on the green some distance west of the Grand avenue embankment, right in front of several big residences and apartment houses. This custom, however, is beginning to reap complaints.

It is planned to build a permanent tiled feeding place, perhaps near the embankment, where large numbers of ducks can be fed without spoiling the lawns or nearby property, and on a foundation which can be kept clean. It is also planned to make the duck penchants of ornamental, as well as permanent.

Gilkey and Kerfoot started today on a survey of the possibilities.

Packing Rioting Is Resumed; One Shot

LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Packingtown was an armed camp today. Sporadic rioting, which resulted in the shooting of one man, probably fatally, broke out again and necessitated the calling of several hundred police reserves.

This is the first outbreak in the yards district between strikers and strikebreakers in ten days.

Under contemplation of war presented to the board yesterday by Architect W. C. Hays.

On the request of Rev. Albert Eargott the North Berkeley Baptist church was allowed to rent a second portable building at the Thon-sand Oaks school. A rental of $10 a month is paid for each building with the understanding that the church is to vacate at any time the school needs the structures.

MAYOR REPLIES TO CRITICISM ON PUBLIC UTILITIES

Bartlett in Letter Urges Meetings for Discussions of Program.

BERKELEY, Dec. 28.—Urging public meetings for the discussion of matters pertaining to public utilities, Mayor Louis Bartlett yesterday replied to a letter of Secretary Charles Keeler of the Chamber of Commerce.

The mayor explains his criticism of sections of the proposed program as follows:

"It has been my aim to work with the public service corporations for the betterment of service. The officials of the water company have not cooperated in the past, either in giving adequate service, nor in its cost. When Mr. Edgerton was elected president of the East Bay Water Company last spring I told him that I could be expected to cooperate with his company, but that it must be upon condition that we receive good service at a fair price and that the company keep out of politics."

"My objections to your tentative program for dealing with the public service corporations is that by turning the Chamber of Commerce into a stock selling agency for them and a propaganda bureau, greater facilities are afforded them for doing politics and perpetuating the present inadequate and costly system. The suggestion in your letter of December 23 that the Chamber will hold public forum meetings at which matters concerning the public utilities may be presented is entirely in line with my desires. We cannot have too many meetings where both sides of the question may be presented and an opportunity given for heckling the speakers. Under the able leadership of Max Theisen such an open forum is bound to be a success."

ROCKEFELLER'S DAUGHTER GETS DIVORCE DECREE

Harold F. McCormick Fails to Contest Suit; Mary Garden Linked to Suit.

without provocation and for a time refused to contribute to her support.

The McCormicks have not lived together for nine years. Eight years ago Mrs. McCormick left suddenly, for Switzerland, where she made her home until early this fall, when she returned home under a visit from her husband at Lucerne. They returned on different boats and came to Chicago on different trains.

Mrs. McCormick announced on her return that her study of synthetic psychology during her eight-year exile had completely changed her life. She said she would devote all her time to spreading the cult among her friends.

OPERA SINGERS ARE CONCERNED OVER DIVORCE.

Following this announcement, McCormick said that "My wife and I are no longer living under the same roof."

Friends foresaw that the end of their domestic tangle was near, for they both announced that this was the last year they would make up the deficit of the Chicago Grand Opera company. They were paying the $600,000 deficit this year.

It was feared that the estrangement would mean the end of the opera company, which they had supported for eleven years, but other directors are attempting to "secure funds to run it."

The announcement of the divorce caused great excitement at the Grand opera, where groups of grand opera stars discussed it eagerly.

For months it has been rumored that the friendship of McCormick and Miss Mary Garden, director of the company, would some day end in marriage.

MARY GARDEN WILL RETIRE, FRIENDS SAY.

The fact that Mrs. McCormick has opposed the directorship of Miss Garden since her return has given credence to this rumor.

It was further strengthened when it was declared by several members of the opera company that Miss Garden would positively retire from the stage at the end of the 1922 season.

Now the friends of the divorced couple on the "Gold Coast" are simply wondering when the expected announcement of the engagement of McCormick and Miss Garden will be made public.

The divorce of the McCormicks adds another chapter to the famous Stillman domestic tangle. Harold F. McCormick and his daughter Muriel are among the closest friends of Mrs. James A. Stillman. Since Mrs. Stillman has been in the limelight because of the sensational charges of her husband, she has been a frequent guest at the Lake Shore country home of Harold McCormick, while Anne Stillman, her daughter, has been the guest of Muriel.

It was recently reported that Harold McCormick had attempted to effect a reconciliation between the Stillmans, but this was denied.

SECRET WEDDING IS REVEALED BY HAPPY COUPLE

What is the use of a "secret marriage" if no one finds it out or accuses you of the deed. Next to being married, it is said that the most enjoyable feature is being suspected and refuting the charge without having anyone believe your statements.

At least such is the argument of Donald McKechnie, 1533 Harmon street, Berkeley, and Miss Beatrice Krone, of 5119 Carlton street, Oakland. The young couple stole away to Stockton Monday morning, were married, and returned to their respective homes Monday evening. It seemed that no one would discover their secret. But each of the contracting pair had friends. In a short time the bride's girl friends had guessed her secret, and then began the accusation and refutation which furnish the aftermath to the "secret" marriage. And the bridegroom is said to have felt that it was a shame to keep his friends in ignorance, and told a few of them the news of his new happiness.

McKechnie is the son of the late Captain Donald McKechnie, who was in the employ of the Southern Pacific Company in the Eastbay for many years. Mrs. McKechnie is the daughter of Mrs. J. H. Lewis, 5415 Carlton street.

Autos Damaged, But Occupants Unscathed

BERKELEY, Dec. 28.—Backing her automobile into the car of Mrs. A. T. Parsons, 1751 Tacoma avenue, Miss Lorraine Cleveland, 2512 Cedar street, caused injuries yesterday afternoon. The accident occurred in front of the postoffice at Milvia street and Alston way. Both cars were damaged.

While S. Omura was paying his bill in the Argonaut Cafe, 465 Seventh street, a thief stole his wallet which he was holding in his hand. The thief ran out the door and escaped in the crowd at Seventh and Broadway.

Fiancee Causes Trouble

"Say, old fellow, it's great to be engaged, but a little tough luck goes along with it occasionally. You know I told you I had cut out all the 'glad rag' affairs till I could afford some new clothes, which I figured out would be the end of January. And yesterday Helen's mother invited me to spend the New Year's week-end with them at their country home."

Go to Cherry's at 524 13th street and get your clothes on credit. Don't miss a party like that.

Soft Earth Makes Trees Menaces, Aid 'Em Urges Expert

NOW is the time for every good citizen to come to the aid of his trees and shrubs, according to W. A. Pullen, 717 Nineteenth street.

If you have prized trees or shrubs, prepare to prune them now, Pullen says. In Pullen's estimation the recent heavy, concentrated rains have so loosened the earth that the safety of both trees, shrubs and the lives of pedestrians are menaced.

A falling tree, in Pullen's belief, not only can break its own limbs and the limbs of persons under it but can become the basis for a suit for damages, aside from the loss of its sentimental value.

He suggests that trees be pruned and trimmed to reduce their resistance to the wind and that wire and rope stays be used until the earth again hardens.

Spain Press Attacks Exclusion From Meet

MADRID, Dec. 28.—(By The Associated Press.)—Strong comment on the exclusion of Spain and the South and Central American republics from the Washington conference still is being made by many of the Spanish newspapers. In its editorial on that subject El Sol today says:

"Not merely for us but for universal history the exclusion of Spain and Spanish speaking nations from the discussions has been the most striking characteristic of the conference. This despite the fact that they are more interested than any others in the Pacific."

BOY SLAIN FOR SQUIRREL

CAMDEN, Ark., Dec. 28.—Possessing a gun, a boy named Elliott Jr., 10, was searching for a man who shot and killed Insley Elliott Jr., 10, by Police Judge Tyrrell and was sentenced to ten days in the city prison. He admitted in court that he had shot the squirrel, but did not know they were stolen from the Pullman Company. Probation was denied on the request of Adult Probation Officer Tyson.

MME. SUN ROUTS KIDNAPERS AND ESCAPES SAFELY

South China President's Wife Reaches Front After Five-Hour Battle.

By EDNA LEE BOOKER, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 28.—Mme. Sun Yat Sen, wife of Dr. Sun, president of the South China republic, regarding whose safety grave fears were entertained because of sensational reports of her kidnapping being current, has arrived at the battlefield and joined her husband. It was definitely established in advices received here today.

Madame Sun has made herself a heroine by her 20-day dangerous journey to the front with Red Cross supplies. The advices received here told of a five-hour fight at Thoping by her picked bodyguard against bandits attempting to carry out their plan to kidnap her. The guards were finally victorious, beating off the would-be kidnapers.

Overtures such as never before were accorded a woman in China greeted Madame Sun en route to the front. The dispatches received here today stated, and her arrival with Red Cross supplies proved a big stimulus to the morale of the army.

NIPPONESE WANT MAINLAND TO BE EXEMPT IN PACT

Written Agreement Regarding Japan Proper to Be Asked of Treaty Signers.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Administration leaders would welcome action by the Japanese government to remove the doubt as to whether the Japanese mainland is to be included in the so-called "protection clause" of the new four-power Pacific treaty, it was said today. A declaration from Tokyo that Japan does not want the mainland of Japan included would not only clear the atmosphere, it was said, but it would also make the path of ratification by the United States much easier. The treaty interpretation has been discussed by Japanese and American officials here within the last week and it is believed a satisfactory understanding will be reached.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press).—The Japanese delegation here is understood to have suggested informally to the British, French and American delegates the drafting of a written agreement that the new four-power treaty be not construed as applicable to the islands generally considered as comprising the Japanese mainland.

The suggestion that the Japanese may make, it was said, would be for something that would not amount to an amendment of the treaty, but consist merely of a definition in written form.

Cablegrams from Tokyo assert that practically the entire Japanese press strongly opposes any inclusion of the mainland. The opposition is based on the idea that Japan does not desire that her mainland be included while the mainland of the other signatories—Great Britain, United States and France, is excluded.

Referring to the four-power Pacific treaty last night, Hanihara, a Japanese delegate, said that the press of his country was distinctly opposed to the inclusion of the home land of Japan within the meaning of the treaty.

By DUKE N. PARRY,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

TOKYO, Dec. 28.—The so-called "protection clause" of the Pacific treaty drawn up by the Washington conference has aroused a storm of protest in Japan and there were only faint hopes that Japan would only ratify with reservations unless the pact is revised.

Vice Foreign Minister Tanaka promised a full inquiry into the "protection clause" and complete interpretation of it.

"Ratification is possible, but only with reservations covering the protection clause," said the foreign official.

Members of the government claim that it would be humiliating to Japan to include the homeland in the treaty.

DEBS TALKS ON HIS JOURNEY TO NATION'S CAPITAL

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 28.—Eugene V. Debs, en route from Washington to his home in Terre Haute, Ind., spent ten minutes here this morning. Those ten minutes were devoted to a breakfast on the train. Debs received no visitors here.

By LAURENCE M. BENEDICT,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Eugene V. Debs, free Socialist leader, and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, have buried past differences and will work together for general amnesty for political prisoners, Gompers indicated in a statement to the United Press today.

The American Federation of Labor has been working to free the so-called political prisoners for more than two years," Gompers said. "We shall be glad to have Debs with us."

A definite "understanding" between Debs and Gompers was arrived at, it was reported today, during the long conference they held upon Debs' breakfast here on the crowded train. Debs' speech from the federal prison at Atlanta. The statement of Debs' friends that he was virtually under compulsion to continue his journey and confer with President Harding and Attorney-General Daugherty before proceeding to his home stirred up a hornet's nest of resentful letters and telegrams.

While waiting for his train Debs addressed several hundred persons. Debs preached the doctrine of love of mankind and abhorrence of war. Two uniformed policemen in the crowd shook hands with him. But just as Debs concluded the station policeman stepped up and demanded to know whether the Socialist leader had a permit to speak there. On Debs' reply of "No," the officer reprimanded him. "You are violating the law," he told Debs.

SOCIALIST EDITOR'S VIEW.
TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Dec. 28 (By the Associated Press).—President Harding and former President Wilson were accused in a speech made here last night by C. W. Ervin, editor of the New York Call, a Socialist newspaper, of having violated their oath of office in conspiring with the imperialism of Eugene V. Debs, Socialist leader, who was released from prison last Sunday through presidential clemency. Debs' arrest and imprisonment, Ervin said, violated the constitutional guarantee of free speech.

PARIS SENATORS FIRM IN DEMAND FOR STRONG FLEET

There Are Limitations We Cannot Accept, Solon Says
in Debate.

PARIS, Dec. 28.—(By The Associated Press).—France's determination to have a powerful fleet and objections to the limitation efforts of the Washington conference were vigorously voiced in the Senate yesterday during a discussion of the marine section of the Government's budget.

Senator Henry Berenger, who reported the marine budget, said France was at a decisive turning point. "Is France still independent in her navy as in her army?" he asked. "Has the old principle of sovereignty been sacrificed somewhat in those conferences wherein we have been promised a sort of internationale or happiness?"

Senator de Kerguelen defended the submarine as an essential weapon of defense, but wished it to be confined to military uses instead of being applied to torpedoing commerce. "The Washington conference," he said, "were surprised to see the French delegation demand 350,000 tons of capital ships when France does not desire to carry war into foreign waters. France desires no imperialism, but there are, nevertheless, limitations which we cannot accept."

Minister of Marine Gustave, replying to Senator de Kerguelen, asserted: "Nothing has been proposed that limits France's powers." Moreover, he declared, no decision reached at Washington would be effective until the French Parliament had approved them.

He severely criticized the condition of the navy and other Senators joined with him in urging speedy reforms.

AUTO, LOCOMOTIVE COLLIDE; 3 HURT

SANTA ROSA, Dec. 28.—Three persons were injured and the automobile in which they were riding was completely demolished in a collision last night on the Healdsburg-Santa Rosa highway. The injured are:

MISS ETHEL RHODES, 18 years old, Healdsburg high school pupil, serious cuts and bruises.

CARL RHODES, 20 years old, her brother, lacerations and cuts inflicted by flying glass.

MISS GENEVIEVE SMITH, 18 years old, Santa Rosa, lacerations and cuts from glass as well as serious bruises.

The accident occurred just out of Santa Rosa, near the Southern Pacific crossing. A locomotive was switching and was approaching the crossing as the automobile, traveling at high speed, approached. According to Carl Rhodes, who was driving, something happened to the throttle of the car and he was unable to stop it. The machine crashed into the locomotive, rebounded and struck a telegraph pole. The motor was pushed into the front seat of the car and the occupants of the car were thrown out.

Church Property on Stadium Site Sought

BERKELEY, Dec. 28.—Negotiations for the sale of the Trinity M. E. Church property at Ellsworth street and Alameda way to the university as part of the new stadium site have been completed.

The price was $57,500. The church property will be the last to be razed by the university when work is started on the stadium, under an agreement between church and college authorities.

Plans for the erection of a new church building on property recently purchased at the southwest corner of Bancroft way and Dana street are being made by church officials headed by W. F. Morrish, chairman of the board of trustees. The new church property sold to the university has a frontage of 100 feet on Ellsworth street and 130 feet on Allston way.

$6910 Is Expended By Welfare Society

BERKELEY, Dec. 28.—Mayor Louis Bartlett today received a report from the Berkeley Welfare Society, formerly known as the Charity Organization Society, for the four months from July to October last. The report shows receipts and disbursements of $6910.71. Of this amount $1660.73 has been used for the support of children committed to the charge of the society and placed in private homes, where they are supported by funds from Alameda county.

Of the society has furnished relief to an average of 275 cases monthly, of whom 90 are half-orphan, 31 are aged and 30 are blind. Only 12 cases per month have been assisted by the society on account of unemployment. The workers of the society make 400 visits monthly and keep in touch with all cases where need is reported.

COLONEL ACCUSED OF THIRD MURDER BY WAR VETERAN

Officer Slew His Orderly in Dugout in France, Says
Letter to Senator.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
LEASSED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The charge that Lieutenant Colonel H. L. Opie, of Staunton, Va., killed his orderly, William Woolwine, in a dugout near the Argonne in October, 1918, was contained in a letter which Senator Watson, Democrat, of Georgia, today handed Senator Brandegee, Republican, of Connecticut, chairman of the committee investigating the "Watson charges."

This is the third killing of one of his men that is charged against Opie, who was formerly a major in command of a battalion of the 11th Infantry. Opie has already denied the other two charges.

The third is made by Lemuel O. Smith, of Marion, Va., a former sergeant of Company M of Opie's battalion. Smith said he was decorated by the French and the American governments.

TWO OTHERS TELL OF KILLING MAJOR SLAY.

"I was commanding a detail composed of Privates Toad Ellison, Lee Collins and William Askew, bringing in four prisoners when we heard a shot in a dugout," wrote Smith. "We entered and found William Woolwine, Opie's orderly, lying dead. The room was filled full of smoke and Opie was looking at the body. He told us he had killed Woolwine and ordered us to carry the body out."

According to sworn testimony already given by Henry L. Scott, of Kentmore, O. Scott saw Opie kill a sergeant who was crawling into a shell hole during a battle to protect himself against shells, and also a messenger who refused to turn over to Opie a message which the latter demanded of him. Grayson H. Withrow of Baltimore, Md., has written saying he saw Opie kill the sergeant Scott referred to. He will testify.

UNFAIR COURT-MARTIAL.

Watson demanded today that Smith and the three privates whom he named be summoned as witnesses. Watson also handed to the committee the names of Horace J. Cook and Claude Breeden of Covington, Va., who, he declares, will testify they saw Opie kill the sergeant referred to by Scott.

Watson further handed to Brandegee a letter from John S. Cannon of Kansas City, an attorney and a former officer of the A. E. F., who charges that a court-martial on which he sat sentenced to death a negro whom he believed innocent. Cannon charged that the presiding officer of the court forced the verdict of conviction and refused to allow the negro to testify in his own behalf.

Your Good Health and Long Life Depend on Your Kidneys. That's Why Insurance Companies Always Insist on Urinalysis.

Beaverton, Oregon.—"I take great pleasure in stating what Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets have done for me in a very severe case of bladder and kidney trouble. For ten years I was distressed about every thirty minutes. I doctored and doctored but no relief. My last doctor bill was $175.00, and I was no better. I went back to my old home and my folks wanted me to give Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets a trial so I did and I also took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' with them to work on my liver. Now I can walk, ride, go to town and go for five or six hours without being distressed. I can not praise the Anuric Tablets too much for they are wonderful for the kidneys."—Mrs. Caroline Boles, Box 363.

PORT SAID MOB IS FIRED ON BY BRITISH TROOPS

Many Reported Slain Because Egyptians Fail to Disperse Rioters.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
LEASSED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Many persons are reported to have been killed at Port Said on Monday night when British troops opened fire on a crowd of Egyptian Nationalists, said a Cairo despatch to the Daily Herald today.

Conditions at Cairo, where Egyptian Nationalists have been rioting, improved during the past 24 hours. Some officials have returned to duty despite the protests of the Nationalist leaders, who have been attempting to paralyze government administration by a general strike.

The British authorities had given the leading Egyptian citizens of the town one hour in which to disperse a mob whose actions had grown menacing. The Egyptian residents failed, and the British soldiers opened fire.

Suez, where Zaghloul, chief leader of the Egyptian Nationalists, and his colleagues are interned, is full with soldiers and police. The town is described as a "powder magazine" which a spark might set into a conflagration of violence.

on duty at Goat Island. The sentry called the corporal of the guard and a close lookout was kept for two hours in an effort to determine if the cries had been uttered by someone really in need of help or by a party of launch riders who were playing pranks. The matter was reported the following morning when the boat was picked up. According to the sentry the cries could be distinctly heard, though nothing could be seen in the darkness.

Club Women Interested in Home Economics

By EDNA B. KINARD.

If the 50,000 feminists included within the California Federation of Women's Clubs take heed to that comprehensive program which has been prepared by Miss Florence LeGanke, director of home economics in the Oakland public schools and chairman of the home economics department of the federation, they will become the leaven which leavens the womanhood of the state. Miss LeGanke is offering a constructive scheme which deals not alone with legislative matters, but times and color for a woman's dress; not alone with good citizenship but with what to feed the baby; not alone with educational matters, but how to purchase the little things which make the big demands on the family budget. Every federated club which follows the study outline will contribute wiser women to the community when the year is done.

Miss LeGanke calls attention to the fact that every girl above 14 may have adequate training in home making. She urges renewed efforts in obtaining home economics requirements of at least one year for every girl in high school. The Sheppard-Towner bill is commended. Discussion in the home economics department, according to the state chairman, should center throughout the season about purchasing and its relationship to better citizenship.

Monthly bulletins are being issued by the department of which Miss LeGanke is the director. Following the January publication on house furnishings, subjects will be considered in this order: "House Decorations," February; "Food for Child of School Age," March; "Food for Growing Child," April; "Food for Adults," May; "Festivities and Food," June.

The first dinner served in the newly opened clubrooms of the Business and Professional Woman's Club tomorrow night will take the form of a Christmas jinx. Miss Florence LeGanke, an Oakland woman, who has risen to recognition through her pen, will be the guest of honor and principal speaker. Miss Livingston is the author of "The Custard Cup," which has gone into several editions in the United States, and is now being translated in several continental countries. Christmas cards will be sung by the guests. Mrs. Annie Carter, soprano, will contribute a group of soprano numbers.

Men folk have been invited to share the holiday celebration in the attractive Broadway room. Mrs. Gladys Barndollar is president.

The Friday Morning Club of Los Angeles may indeed be regarded with envy by its sister clubs in California. With $75,000 already deposited in the bank toward the clubhouse fund, the women are announcing that they may easily borrow sufficient to make up the sum of $225,000 with which to start construction of the new headquarters.

WOMEN OPPOSE ARMY TRAINING

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—A nation-wide campaign against military training for high school boys has been started here by the headquarters of the American Federation of Teachers. The first organization to pledge cooperation with the teacher is the Chicago League of Women Voters, whose executive board through its president, Mrs. Henry W. Cheney, has endorsed the movement.

The federation's opposition to military training in the public high schools is based upon three arguments:

1. Because not even Germany deemed advisable to maintain military training for school boys in time of peace.

2. Because military training is not an adequate substitute for physical training.

3. Because militarism should be discouraged, not encouraged.

The appeal is being sent to organizations throughout the United States.

FOUNDRIES TO CUT WAGES ON JAN. 1; 6000 AFFECTED

Employers in Fifty Eastbay Plants Announce "American Plan" Installation.

A 10 per cent cut in wages of employees of fifty of the leading foundries of the bay district, affecting 6000 men, to become effective January 1, was announced today. At the same time the so-called American plan of employment will be put into practice, following the expiration of agreements between the industry's unions and other affiliated crafts and the associated employers on December 31. It became known.

These agreements, which have been in effect almost continuously for twenty-five years, terminated automatically with the merging of the California Foundrymen's Association and the California Metal Trades Association, which occurred last year.

UNION SCALE CUT. The union scale of $7.12 a day will be cut to a basic wage of $4.40 and the wages of other foundry employees will be cut in proportion. This will apply to men now employed. The hiring under the new policy of the employers will be $5.75 a day, which may be increased as the workman shows efficiency.

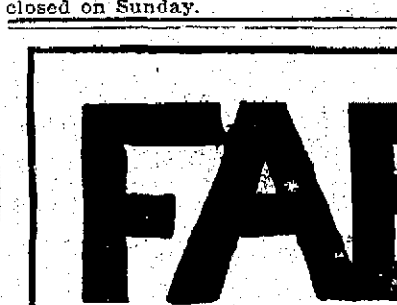

The wage cut was made "because of present business and economic conditions making it absolutely necessary in order to aid in stimulating general business, and particularly in order that the bay district foundries may successfully compete with outside foundries, that wages be reduced from the high levels fixed during war conditions to somewhere near those now being paid in competing districts," set forth in a resolution received by all foundries in the bay district.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED. The resolution, which has been adopted by the employers and received yesterday, continues:

"Also that relief be obtained from many restrictive rules governing and handicapping the operation of foundries, so that the shop may secure a reasonable maximum of production from the necessary men employed and be able to pay wages in return in proportion to the individual production and quality and comparable with the fixed sales value of the product."

Oakland Plans to Give New Year Warm Greeting

Oakland, from all indications, will take fitting steps to welcome with open arms the infant 1922 at midnight next Saturday, despite the fact that times have changed.

The pealing of bells, the tooting of whistles, the wagging of tongues, the making and breaking of resolutions and, in some remote and discreet places, the possible popping of corks, will all play more or less important parts in the greeting of the Old New Year—a year that comes in an instant and remains for twelve months; a year that is too long for some and too brief for others; a year that will bring to some gladness, to others sorrow, success or failure, victory or defeat.

Throughout the city preparations are being made this week for the ceremony for the night and day that will officially end the winter holiday season.

MERRY MAKING PLANNED. Nineteen hundred and twenty-two will be ushered in to the accompaniment of a grand program of amusement and merry-making. In the Oakland hotels, managers are making plans for an influx of guests who it is believed will flock here to spend the holiday. Restaurant owners and cafe proprietors are making ready for the night when the scene of jolly parties of celebrants.

There will be programs at the city's lodges and clubs, and in churches and the homes of friends many will gather to watch for the new year.

When both hands on the clock point exactly to the figure twelve, announcing the death of Old 1921, who, as though loath to leave his throne to the Novice, will quietly fold his mantle about his aged bones and seek oblivion, the watchers and merry-makers will open up, and the New Year will be accorded a welcome predicted to surpass all previous similar demonstrations.

In the cafes and restaurants and hotels there will be dancing and in many places private parties and excursions. At some homes there will be children's functions and in many cases youngsters will be allowed to remain up to hear the noise.

POLICE TO BE ON GUARD. According to Police Chief James T. Drew, extra squads of police officers will be on duty throughout the night to make sure that the laws are observed. New Year's Eve, according to the police, is usually night when crooks and petty thieves prey upon homes and pedestrians, and every precaution will be taken to keep crime on that night down to the minimum. Also their duty, according to the chief, will be to see that none of the laws are violated by reckless celebrants.

"It's true that New Year's comes only once a year," said Police Chief Drew today, announcing his plans for that night, "but that's no excuse for violating the law. The police department wants every one to have a good time, and they can have it by staying inside the law."

for violators of the Volstead act, who if caught will be punished." Hardie refused to say whether prohibition enforcement officers had any special plans or looked forward to being unusually busy Saturday night.

Thousands of visitors from Contra Costa County and the Sacramento Valley are expected to invade Oakland for the celebration, according to railroad officials. L. H. Rodenbaugh, traffic manager for the San Francisco and Sacramento Railroad, said today that the volume of Christmas business handled had been heavy and that many of the Christmas guests were intending to remain until after New Year's Day.

Arrangements to handle the heavy travel were completed by the roads today, and exchange of tickets between all points on both lines had been provided for.

Rodenbaugh said that the outgoing travel after January 1 would be heavy on account of the fact that many of the Christmas visitors had decided to remain for the New Year celebrations.

Special night schedules have been arranged for Saturday night and Sunday morning by local street car and railroad companies. The San Francisco-Oakland Terminal railway will have owl cars and boats at 2 o'clock Sunday morning, one hour later than usual.

CHESTER ROWELL OUTLINES ARMS PARLEY TO CLUB

Rail Board Member Compares Harding and Wilson in His Luncheon Address.

Outlining the purpose of the luncheon, Rowell compared the conference with the Versailles conference, condemning a San Francisco newspaper for its anti-British attitude, and protesting instead of the League of Nations. He then outlined the purpose of the conference, which was to bring the United States and the two American republics, Chile and Peru, into the League of Nations. Rowell, the state's first commissioner, spoke before the Oakland Ad Club, which was the occasion of the present luncheon conference. He then outlined the purpose of the conference, which was to bring the United States and the two American republics, Chile and Peru, into the League of Nations.

Admission in out spoken participation for the League of Nations. Rowell said that he would speak extensively on the subject of the League of Nations. He then outlined the purpose of the conference, which was to bring the United States and the two American republics, Chile and Peru, into the League of Nations.

NINE-POWER TREATY

President Harding is the greater tactician. He saw the mistakes of Wilson but retained the necessity and value of the plan. He called the conference ostensibly to attend to a small matter—the limitation of the navies of the world. Gradually step by step he has added to this original scheme until it now has developed into a conference of mammoth proportions. From a four-power treaty it will be a nine-power treaty.

A revolution in the international relations of the United States is now in the making. We are following the plan adopted by the British in the recent conference of prime ministers of the British Empire. It was decided to do things but to adhere to no definite announced policy. The policy was agreed upon but not defined. That is exactly what we are doing. No one is attempting a definition. It has been agreed to plan certain changes and execute them.

SMALL TOWN STUFF

It reminds me of a small town quarrelling over the advisability of selecting a fire department. The need is admitted but the question is whether the old fashioned or the new fashioned department is preferable. Meanwhile the town burns so that there is no need for a department. We are all hoping now that the world does not burn before we settle our differences of opinion. So far we have succeeded in breaking down our isolation. We have not the league but the next best or the next worst thing. I believe that the outcome will be that the League of Nations will administer to the wants of Europe, a League of some sort will attend to Asia and the two Americas will be joined in a Pan-American league with all three working in harmony and for a common good.

JAPANESE SITUATION

"One thing the conference has established is a spirit of confidence in the other nation not that we are becoming glib or innocent but that we are not unjust. This spirit is imbuing the entire nation. It was evident today when the people of this community were insulted by a San Francisco paper. Yet it was not so long ago that an anti-British utterance of that sort would have been accepted at par value. "There is another thing that must be attended to instantly—that is the Japanese situation. Within the last six years the Japanese people have lost themselves through the restrictions of a military and political clique. The same thing is happening in Japan that happened in Germany and unless the people are allowed to voice their inner sentiment Japan will bankrupt herself and ruin the world, just as Germany did. The things the clique is doing are suicidal and murderous and not representative of the Japanese people."

Tomorrow Will Be Second Chance For Using Tribune Coupon.

Hundreds of grammar school children of the Eastbay region took advantage today of The TRIBUNE'S special "kiddies' matinee" at "The Four Horsemen" now playing its closing engagement at the Oakland Auditorium Theater. Two boxes and an extra doorkeeper were brought into service to handle the crowd of young people who appeared with TRIBUNE coupons to witness the production.

Tomorrow will be the second TRIBUNE matinee, beginning at 2:15 p. m., and it will be the last. Take the coupon published in yesterday's TRIBUNE present it at the box office with 35 cents and obtain a seat that will cost the grown-ups more than twice the price. This is positively the last time you can see the great Metro filmplay, with musical accompaniment by Paul Steindorf's famous fifty piece orchestra, as a guest of The TRIBUNE.

"The Four Horsemen" will close New Year's night at the end of its second successful engagement in Oakland. The auditorium theater has been crowded daily, and reservations are being made for the last performances at the Sherman, Clay and Company auditorium box offices. There will be two performances New Year's eve to accommodate the year-end crowds.

David Martin, county superintendent of schools, and Fred M. Hunter, head of the Oakland educational department, have written The TRIBUNE endorsing the special matinee plan, and speaking warmly of the educational quality of the film Metro's stars have never been seen in more interesting and exciting roles than Alice Terry and Rudolph Valentino take in the present play.

Man Hit by Auto And Then Arrested

Following injuries inflicted when he was run down last night at East Fourteenth street and Twenty-ninth avenue by an automobile driven by Carl Anderson, 2005 Crosby avenue, E. M. Hyatt, 3727 Thirty-ninth avenue is in the city jail charged with being intoxicated. According to the report to the police, Anderson was driving at about twenty miles an hour when Hyatt stepped in front of him and was knocked to the pavement. Anderson said he got out of his machine and ran to the man's side and was attacked by Hyatt, who grabbed him around the neck and attempted to beat him. Anderson fought him off and managed to take him to the nearby hospital where he was later arrested.

S. F. Resort Is Razed By Mysterious Fire

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—Fire of mysterious origin destroyed Hiram Cook's cafe and roadhouse, formerly a well known resort at Twenty-first avenue and Ulloa street, early today, with a loss approximating $50,000. The place was in process of rejuvenation and was to have been reopened under the name of the Princess Imperial Inn by Robert Damsch, 211 Kearny street, who is reported to have been expending $35,000 in improving and refitting it. Early today the night watchman, Con Reis, was aroused by the crackling of flames and telephoned the fire department. When the first apparatus arrived the building was ablaze and two alarms were turned in. The firemen found it almost impossible to quench the flames and the building was almost a total loss.

GAVIOTA PASS OPENS AFTER NEARLY YEAR

George Grant, State Automobile Assn. Manager, Receives News.

By JIM HOULIHAN.

Telephone advice this morning to George Grant, manager of the California State Automobile Association, stated that Gaviota Pass, on the coast road to Los Angeles, was reopened to automobile travel today after having been closed most of the year. How long it will remain available to motor vehicles, first information did not state.

Those desiring to use the coast road will be glad to know that the Gaviota highway can be negotiated. A detour, about fifteen miles in length, has been necessary while this stretch was being repaved and the temporary way was a tough way during storms.

The two-mile detour near Goleta will be planked where necessary to allow travel to pass in safety, according to about fifteen miles in length, has been necessary while this stretch was being repaved and the temporary way was a tough way during storms.

The valley road is still O. K. and ought to remain so, barring more severe weather. Plans to improve the road and the end of the road, will be kept off dirt roads.

Once more the football enthusiasts who are motoring south for the New Year's day battle can smile in the satisfaction of knowing that they can make the grade to Pasadena without being pulled out of mire at some point along the line.

Some of the roads in the area are traveling you do for a few days. There are few such roads that are fit for motoring at this writing and they naturally won't improve until the sun has had a chance to dry them out. This suggestion holds good on most of the roads on the west side of the San Joaquin river as well as they do on adobe surfaces elsewhere.

NASH PRICES CUT. The Nash Motors Company took a healthy slash at the prices of their four and six-cylinder models and have cleared the way for making both lines serious contenders for leadership in their classes during the coming twelve months.

"While Nash has always been regarded one of the most popular sellers among standard makes it has the opportunity now to improve upon Howard Rector, manager of the Pacific Nash Motor Company, "to strengthen its position in the automobile world and you can count upon national as well as a local sales effort to accomplish this objective."

The six-cylinder models, Rector stated, have reached new low price levels, being listed now at a factory figure smaller than prevailed at any time since the present type came into production.

"Cherish Higher Standard," Dr. Silsley Tells Girls' Club

Rev. Frank M. Silsley, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, addressed the regular meeting of the Girls' Club last night in the O. F. Hall. Using as his subject, "The Standard for the New Year," he told the club members that the girls should attain a high aim in life, and to cherish the higher standard, to strive for the perfection of Christian life in life, and to concentrate on one aim. "People are prone to be satisfied with a minimum," Dr. Silsley said. "They are complacent over a little improvement. We do not content ourselves on one aim. We make too much. Interest in a thousand different activities may make us cosmopolitan, but it also brings about the loss of dynamic force which is necessary for the success of all endeavor."

STORM DENUDES TABLES IN U. S. OF ARTICHOKE

San Mateo Supply, America's Source, Damaged $100,000, Growers' Head Says.

Estimates of damage caused by the 96-mile-an-hour gale of Christmas Day, which enveloped the entire bay region, taking a toll of four lives, wrecking buildings, uprooting trees and destroying crops, continued to mount higher today with the report of loss suffered by artichoke growers of San Mateo county.

John L. Debenetti, president of the Halfmoon Bay Coastside Artichoke Growers Association, after surveying the damaged fields, announced today that the loss to this crop would be at least $100,000, and would almost wipe artichokes from the restaurant menus of the United States this year, as San Mateo county supplies almost 100 per cent of these vegetables used in America.

Damage done by the storm to Oakland schools would be about $1000, according to Don Rice, assistant manager of the Board of Education. At the Cole, Washington, Lincoln, Lockwood, Lafayette and Elmhurst schools numerous windows were blown in and portions of the roofs were badly damaged and a portion of the top of the Cole school was wrenched loose by the gale.

Practically all of the storm's wreckage was cleared away yesterday by street employees, and repairs were being made today. Extra large corps of linemen were sent to telephone and power lines, torn down by the storm, and new poles were being erected to replace those toppled over by the gale.

SCREAMS, SHOTS HEARD ON PHONE TELL OF MURDER

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 28.—Screams and shots, heard over the wire by a telephone operator today led to police investigation into the slaying of her husband by Mrs. J. G. Simmons at their home here. Mrs. Springmeyer was arrested on charge of murder. In her confession to the police she is reported to have declared Simmons was attempting to attack her. The confessed slayer, who is only 21 years old, was married to Simmons when she was 16.

Mrs. Simmons had just lifted the receiver of the telephone to call for help, she declared, at the instant the long distance call was cut in and the operator heard her cries and the report of the revolver.

The operator, Miss Martha Connering, was completing a long distance connection with Louisville, Ky., to notify Mrs. Simmons that her father was dying in that city.

More than 2,000,000 gallons of water were picked up by the reservoirs of the Los Angeles Valley Water Company, according to George A. Elliott, chief engineer for the company. This, he said, is enough to meet the normal demands of San Francisco for two months.

L. A. BEGINS REPAIRS. LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—With clear skies prevailing this morning, the 700,000 people of Los Angeles "came up for air" after ten days and nights of the heaviest December rainfall experienced here since 1899. Highway, rail and interurban traffic was gradually being restored. At San Pedro shipping men expressed relief at the cessation of the storm.

The United States weather bureau here reported 39 of an inch of rain for Los Angeles during the last 24 hours. The total for the storm during this morning at 8:16 inches, this bringing the season total to 11.25 inches, compared with 2.96 at this time last year.

Millionaires in N. Y. Take Homes Janitors Eschew

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—The exclusive millionaire-janitor "sky line" colony that inhabits the sky scraper tips of lower Manhattan is splitting up. As the millionaires move in, the janitors are moving out.

The reason is largely social—how it is not that the skyscraper zone, with its elaborate aerial bungalows and roof gardens is becoming too exclusive for the janitors. The trouble is that, despite the influx of millionaires, the district has not enough social tone to suit the family of the modern big building janitor, who wears the title of building superintendent.

J. H. Hermon, department manager of a large downtown realty management company, said today it was becoming harder and harder to find resident superintendents to occupy apartments that most of the old skyscraper maintain for that purpose.

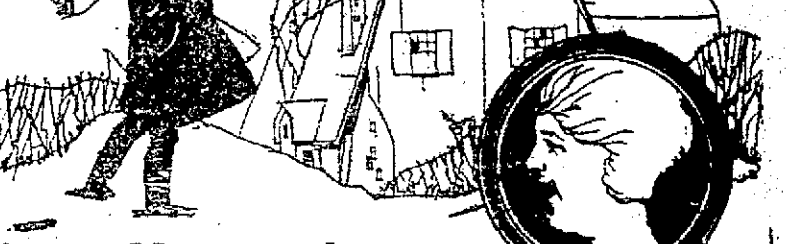

"The type of men taking these jobs is becoming higher and higher," he said, "as the complexities of big building operation increase. That means that the men feel they cannot gratify down here in the business district. They prefer to live up town or in the more exclusive suburbs."

AUTO WRECKS ELECTRICITY. ALAMEDA, Dec. 28.—An automobile wrecked the electric line at Wilcox street and Pacific avenue last night. The damage to the light was discovered by Policeman Louis Meyer as he was making his round.

ditions in San Diego county were improved today. No rain has fallen during the last 18 hours. Automobile traffic to Los Angeles via the inland route was resumed. Several bridges were washed out on the coast route which is closed. Railway traffic between Los Angeles and San Diego is practically at normal.

THE NEW HARBOR PROJECT.
The general board of army engineers, headed by Major General Beach, chief of the engineer corps, which has supervision over all government rivers and harbors work and which must give its approval to any new project before it can be initiated, has formulated a comprehensive plan for the improvement of Oakland harbor. The recommendations which the board of engineers recently made to the Secretary of War, and which the latter has just transmitted to Congress, is the most emphatic official recognition for this harbor so far made.

A new harbor project has been drafted and endorsed by all the necessary official agencies except Congress. It will be considered by Congress during the present session and there is every reason to hope that favorable action will result.

As a whole this project contemplates the expenditure of $1,371,450. The appropriation of $400,000 is requested at once, to carry on work planned during the next fiscal year, beginning July 1. The remainder is to be appropriated as needed and requested by the army engineers.

In detail the plan calls for the dredging of a channel through Goat Island shoals thirty feet deep and 800 feet wide, a channel from the jetties to Webster street in the inner harbor thirty feet deep and 600 feet wide, the dredging of the south channel in the Brooklyn basin thirty feet deep and 500 feet wide, a turning basin in Brooklyn basin thirty feet deep and 500 feet wide by 1200 feet long, and the dredging of the tidal canal in Alameda to Park street thirty feet deep and 275 feet wide.

It will be observed that this plan is the first to give substantial attention to the Western waterfront. The dredging of the Goat Island shoals will provide a direct entrance to the western harbor and undoubtedly will hasten the development of the entire Key basin. It will place the western harbor definitely and importantly on the map of the Eastbay cities and emphasize the harbor facilities on the continental side of the bay.

This program of the federal government is drafted at the time the existing harbor improvement project, adopted in 1910, is nearing completion. It means the continuation of the government's active assistance in developing the Eastbay harbor facilities. As a result interest of the Eastbay communities should be greatly stimulated in the utilization of the harbor advantages and in the added prestige that will come to Oakland as one of the important tidewater ports of the Pacific Coast.

CHANGES IN CHINA.

Many interesting developments are to be expected to follow the recent cabinet changes in the Central Chinese government at Peking.
What they will mean to the internal fortunes of China, what reception they will encounter at the hands of the outside world, and particularly what action they will provoke in Japan will be watched very closely.

General Chang Tsao-lin, a military leader of considerable ability, who has long been the master of the political situation in Manchuria and who has been reported in the past to favor restoration of the Manchou dynasty, is the power behind these changes in the government. His faction at Peking having gained an advantaged position, he went to the capital and personally directed the maneuvers that brought about the downfall of the Chin Yun-ping cabinet.

But General Chang is also reported to have a purpose to which he is even more strongly devoted than he is to the idea of putting the central government under the control of the Manchus. He is working for a coalition of all the political forces in the government and of all the popular factions, with the special design of bringing the Canton revolutionaries of Dr. Sun Yat Sen into co-operation with the Peking regime. Dr. Sun's first announcement is that he will not enter into negotiations with General

Chang, but the situation is not entirely hopeless.
The new premier, Liang Shih-yi, is an able man who is known for a strong friendliness toward the United States. He is not involved in factional intrigue as deeply as others and is looked upon as having the largest prospect of success in the effort to create a coalition cabinet.
He is also recognized both by natives and foreigners as a sound financier, which is something the Chinese government greatly needs at present.

All circumstances considered, the changes at Peking appear to presage a happier situation for the central government and for China's dealings with the foreign powers. But at Peking things are often not what they seem and the cautious caution in waiting for further developments is appropriate.

HAWAII'S IMPORTANCE.

Hawaii, first Pacific outpost of the United States, and apparently the one permanent outpost, is growing steadily in importance. No longer is it to be considered only a troublesome appendage taken over and retained in order to prevent some other nation from gaining possession. It presents positive reasons for an attachment to it by the United States.

International political considerations are still dominant. They are more imperative because of the constantly increasing tenseness of international relations, the demand to maintain an equitable balance of interests in the Pacific. The importance of holding them against foreign possession is greater than ever.

But the material factors in Hawaii are likewise important. They give a more ponderable basis for evaluating the existing relations with the United States and constitute a solid argument for a livelier interest on the part of the federal government in this group of islands.

The report of the governor of Hawaii, just filed with Congress, calls attention to some aspects of the physical conditions. It is shown that Hawaii is not exclusively a territory of large sugar and pineapple production and difficult social problems. Sugar and pineapples continue to be the two main food products, it is true, and their value is quite considerable. This year the yield of sugar was 584,000 tons and that of pineapples 5,500,000 cases.

But the increased trade of the Pacific and the importance of the Hawaiian islands as a center of transpacific business is evidenced by the steady increase in tonnage entering island ports.
The gross tonnage of all vessels entering the Territory was 6,088,689 tons, or nearly 700,000 tons more than in 1920.

Imports for the year ended March 31, 1921, amounted to $90,301,260; exports amounted to $180,720,242. Of the imports, those from the mainland were valued at $77,739,881, and those from foreign countries at $12,561,879. Of the exports, shipments to the mainland amounted to $177,173,234 and to foreign countries $3,547,008.

Internal revenue receipts at the Hawaii office were $20,676,778.81, and customs receipts were $1,426,716.32 for the period under review.
These figures bespeak the importance of Hawaii as a unit of the American government.
They call for more serious attention to the requests of Hawaii for authority to remedy economic conditions, or when racial, social and educational problems are to be attacked. When the request for full statehood for the islands is made it is entitled to the most serious consideration. A territory that contributes so much to the productivity and the business of the country is no longer to be treated as a helpless, backward ward.

So far as the members of the all-Soviet congress at Moscow are concerned, they vote their confidence in leader Lenin. The dead and dying peasants in southern Russia have not been heard from.

They have tarred and feathered a bootlegger in Florida for selling booze to a child. There are some offenses which Florida will not tolerate calmly.

There is one consolation—in choosing father's present the family are usually as light on father as appearances will justify.

WHAT LIMITATION WILL SAVE.

This country alone expects to save somewhere near half a billion dollars a year that it would have to spend on navy needs but for the limitation plan.
Great as that sum sounds to pur at last defeated in-financial vision, we gain still more in risks avoided.

Why did half a billion dollars lead to risks avoided?
It took Congress two or three years to small in 1918?
It took Congress two or three years to small in 1918?
We know now that half a billion dollars never was too small to worry about. The familiarity Americans felt with billions and their nodding acquaintance with tens of billions, could not last. It would have used us up.

The avoidance of a renewed risk of further ruinous warfare is worth more to the United States than half a billion a year. To avoid the chance even of becoming drawn into a naval armament race, which might run up arm sounds to pur at last defeated in-actual bloodshed, is worth more to this country. A sense of knowing how things will add greatly to the reliability of plans for our foreign trade. It will render work easier for those who seek to make our merchant marine a thriving servant of national prosperity.

Between material considerations and those of principle or sentiment the question of naval limitation produces only harmony. The nation's interest and its idea of what is fair and decent point the same way. So surely must it be with the other nations who are to participate in the arrangement, if they want their affairs as their affairs appear to us.—New York Sun.

DAILY ALMANAC

Wednesday, December 28.

Much of the time is broken.
The year is bowing stiffly like a man with rheumatism. . . . Enuch Lincoln, Governor of Maine and son and brother of a governor, was born in 1788. . . . His son called him Governor. . . . In 1789 Catherine M. Sedgwick, novelist, was born. . . . It was in 1816 that the American Colonization Society was born. . . . Toya was admitted in 1848. . . . Woodrow W. Wilson is 44 years old today. . . . In 1859
Thomas Babington Macaulay died. . . .
The big winds have blown down firewood for those who live in the woods, the eucalyptus is stripped of its ribbened bark, and everything out-of-doors is washed clean. . . . Creeks are running full of muddy water, springs flow easily and there is snow in the mountains.

It is the pride that we have in our habits that allows them to live. Why is it that the man speaks boasting of the fact that he has the habit, for instance, of forgetting to mail letters? We knew an awkward and heavy youth who used to sit down with such violence that not infrequently he broke the chairs of those upon whom he was calling. It was to be noted that this habit did not extend to his own family circle, where he would be called upon to pay for the broken article. "It is a habit of mine," he used to say and he would tell anyone who would listen how unfortunate a thing this habit was.
Most of us encourage our habits by the regard we give them, we look upon them as marks of individuality.

ing company sends out. They regard the collection as precious treasures, stick them up on every wall, clutter
the bureau drawers, and tuck them away on all of the shelves. And the wives of these men? They keep still because they know that by the middle of January the calendar collector is through. A man should be allowed at least an annual amusement.

Gambler on pluvial dispensations this year. There was the series of baseball games; interfered with by rainfall that had to be settled for;

and now a $30,000 risk on the Cenby San Diegans, is due. This is a

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST
THE BOY AND I

He wonders what it's all about!
The clanging of heavy steel on steel.
The grinding of the wagon wheel
The smoke from chimneys pouring out.
The sound of feet as men go by—
And very often, so do I.

He looks upon the world and sees Prail women over tired by care.
And haste and hurry everywhere,
And tries to solve these mysteries.
Why old men live and young men die—
And very often, so do I.

He is so very young that he Knows nothing yet of caste or creed,
Or any difference of breed
From prejudices he's wholly free.
He hears men sneer, and wonders
why—
And very often, so do I.

He'll talk with diggers in a ditch
And never see the grime and dirt
Or ragged clothes and tattered shirt.
As glad with them as with the rich.
Yet wonders at proud heads held high—
And very often, so do I.

He wonders what it's all about!
The clanging and the clang of strife.
And all the changing scenes of life,
The lights turned on and lights turned off.
Why some men smile and others
sigh—
And very often, so do I.

About YOUR HEALTH

What Real "Wash-Ups"
Mean to Your Well-Being

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health,
New York City.

Some morning, after you have finished your bath, wet a spot of the washcloth with alcohol and rub it over your neck. You will be amazed and shocked to see the black streaks of dirt on the cloth.

The skin is moist and somewhat oily. Dirt, dust and smoke cling to it. Unfortunately, many persons neglect the skin and never get it really clean.

You cannot be clean if you merely give yourself a shower or "a lick and a promise" with a teaspoonful of cold water.

When properly done, bathing is really manual labor. Unless you use lots of hot water, soap and "elbow grease," you cannot be clean.

There is a popular idea that too much water, especially hot water, is harmful to the skin. "It wrinkles it," it is supposed. "It 'puckers it,'" or "makes it tough," or does some other equally absurd and impossible thing.

ENJOY THE AFTER-GLOW.

No matter how many shower baths you may take, you aren't clean in the real sense unless you have an occasional scrubbing with soap and wash-cloth or the sponge. On these occasions, hot or very warm water, which is more solvent than cold will assist your purpose.

Your face is entitled to at least two thorough cleanings each day. The more important time is just before retiring. No one should go to bed without taking to the pillow a clean face.

I have often said I do not object to the moderate use of "powder and rouge." But they are unnecessary if you care for your body and health as you should. Rouge is a very poor substitute for natural color. I am sure no one will dispute this statement.

CLEANLINESS ESSENTIAL.

However, if you do make use of cosmetics there can be no earthly reason for leaving them on overnight.
Give your skin a chance to breathe by freeing it from dirt, smoke, grease, powder and all the rest of its artificial coverings.

Give your face several washings.
Let the first be hot water—lots of it—and soap—lots of it. Rub and scrub and use your washcloth. Empty this dirty fluid and fill the basin again, repeating the soaping and washing.
Then rinse your face and neck with clean water, letting it run cold if you enjoy the after-glow of a cold dip.

In the morning there is not the need of such a thorough performance, but soap and water should be vigorously applied to face, neck and ears.
The crack back of the ears should not be neglected. This is a sensitive bit of skin, but it should be gently reached with the wash-cloth.

You ought to take a general bath at least twice a week. A cold day is better, but not always possible. Even if you take a shower bath daily, do not forget that you need regular scrubbing in addition.

The hands should be washed with soap and water before each meal. If you do this before touching food, and if you keep your face and the openings of your nostrils clean you will escape some serious ailments.

We learned during the influenza epidemic that that particular disease is hand carried.

Cleanliness is one of the greatest factors making for health, and for the appearance of health.

FIELD FOR AMERICAN ENER-GIES.

The great industrial magnate of Germany, Siemens, is said to propose an alliance of British and American capital with a German industrial organization to undertake the rehabilitation and expansion of the railroads of eastern Europe.

The economic and financial possibilities of such an enterprise are doubtless enormous, but they include entanglements which would bring to nothing our policy of freedom from permanent political alliances in Europe. The world would have us deep in European difficulties.

Americans need to realize that our political policies cannot be divorced from our economic and financial programme.

It is realized that some participation in the European situation is unavoidable. But we believe that it would be far more profitable in the long run, and more conducive to our peace, if American economic and financial resources were directed chiefly to the development, first, of our own resources and next to those of Mexico and South America. Both regions are in need of capital and organizing leadership. They need railroads and help to exploit mines, water-power, manufacture, and agriculture. Our help would be welcome if offered on fair terms, and we should be binding the western continent together with bonds of peace and productive cooperation. In such a policy there would be no such problems of policy as Europe would entangle us in, and our return would be more certain and real, in both material and political.—Chicago Tribune.

ATTORNEY DROPS GIRL'S FIGHT FOR $88,000 ESTATE

Marion Scott's Suit for Leon Morrison's Wealth Dismissed in Court.

Just as Marion Scott seemed to feel Leon Morrison's $88,000 in her hands and had begun to plan what she would do with the money, the fortune was snatched away from her when her attorney, saying he realized he could not prove the lost will, withdrew from the case.

Miss Scott's suit for the estate of Leon Morrison, Oakland clothier, followed closely upon his death about a year ago. She had worked for him as cashier and declared he had asked her to marry him only a short time before he died. Morrison was 74 years old. No will could be found and Miss Scott claimed the property, alleging he had made her his heiress in a will dated January 12. To prove the existence of this will she brought into court two male nurses from Fabiola Hospital, where Morrison had been treated for an illness shortly before his death, both of whom declared Morrison had showed them a will leaving all his money to Miss Scott. Corroborative evidence was lacking and conflicting statements of Miss Scott, her mother, Mrs. Genevieve Scott and Morrison's former housekeeper led Miss Scott's attorney to abandon the case.

CORONER'S JURY GIVES CHRISTMAS DEATH VERDICTS

No Trace Found of Drivers Who Flew After Killing San Jose Resident.

SAN JOSE, Dec. 28.—Coroner Amos Williams yesterday afternoon conducted two inquests at his office here.

The first case was that of Edward Garth, who shot himself in the head in a shed near his home on West Santa Clara street last Saturday. The jury brought in a verdict that death was due to a wound self-inflicted.

The second inquest was in the case of the death of Jerome Miramonte, who was struck by one machine and run over by two others on the Alameda, near Montgomery street, last Saturday evening. The verdict in this case was that "death was due to a hemorrhage from the thoracic aorta, due to the artery being torn by broken ribs resulting from being run over, accidentally."

The luncheon will be presided over by President Carsten.

Councilman Opposes Bill Of Architect

Carl Bartlett Asks to Be Relieved of the Finance Chairmanship.

BERKELEY, Dec. 28.—Asking to be relieved of the chairmanship of the finance committee of the board of education, Councilman Carl Bartlett created a stir yesterday by declaring that the members of the board were violating the trust imposed in them by the people of the city in voting to pay $3500 to William C. Hays, architect, for "special" work done in connection with the school building program.

Bartlett and Hays clashed on the issue, the latter declaring that the architect proceeded to draw plans for future high school buildings without authorization from the board. He declared that the architect's bill was first presented eight months ago, and that it has taken Hays all of the intervening time to convince the majority of the board that it was a just claim.

The bill was passed with Councilman Bartlett casting the only dissenting vote.

Hays' bill came up after a former bill had been introduced. The latter turned from the county auditor's office because it bore no dates for services rendered. The necessary dates were supplied and a new warrant was ordered drawn by the school officials.

OAKLAND SEEN AS FILM HEAD SOON

Members of the Oakland Motion Picture Club were guests today of the latter's studio at Park boulevard and Twenty-eighth street. An address by Lawrence Hughes, general manager of the studio, was given. He declared that the club was a part of the Stewart company, and a number of others, made up the club.

Hughes told the Lions why the Stewart company had chosen Oakland as the logical motion picture production center of the future, and of the present plans of the company as well as those of the future.

Motion picture production on a large scale will be under way within the next few months, he said. He pictured beautiful scenes surrounding Oakland, as well as the bay, Lake Merritt, the mountains and other natural beauty spots as the center of the motion picture production of the future. The time will come, he predicted, when all Oakland will be personally acquainted with the staffs who play in the pictures they will go to see at the local theaters.

The program of entertainment included Doris and Selma Hubbard, Dorothy Tebeau, Vivian Crystal and Florence Krough in classic drama and specialties. Madge Williams did her bit in a musical comedy and Dudley Malone performed in several special dances.

Oil Operator Leaves Estate of $66,822

The late Arthur D. Lockwood, retired banker and extensive oil operator, who until his death several months ago, lived at 1540 Euclid avenue, Berkeley, left an estate of $66,822. This was shown in an inventory filed today by Attorney Louis W. Bennett, representing the widow, Mrs. Rebecca A. Lockwood, who is also the executrix.

The property consists of corporate stocks and bonds and the home place in Berkeley.

For many years Lockwood held official positions with the Bank of California in San Francisco. He was one of the first to enter the oil producing business in the Bakersfield region.

Baker Injured in Oven Gas Blast

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—Louis Monzon, 309 Filbert street, Oakland, was burned in an explosion which wrecked the front of the Bake-Rite bakery, 1534 Fillmore street, early today.

Monzon, a baker, arrived early and prepared to light the oven. As he struck a match it is presumed that accumulated gas ignited, causing a sharp explosion which blew out the front glass window facing on Fillmore street. A shower of glass fell on Monzon and he was burned about the head and face. He was taken to Central Emergency hospital. McGuire & Fletcher are proprietors of the establishment.

Declares Husband Posed As Workman

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—"I have more respect for a highwayman who gets his money by holding people up than I have for a man who poses as a workman only to defraud his creditors and fool his family," said Mrs. Mary E. Lynch, 263 Fifth avenue, in testifying before Superior Judge Graham against Andrew Lynch, from whom she was granted a divorce. She declared that Lynch had posed as the foreman of a construction company and had returned home nightly with sand on his shoes, hat and clothes. She discovered, she said, that he had never worked to amount to anything, forcing her to support him and the family.

SCHOOL CHILDREN ENJOY PICTURE OF 'FOUR HORSEMEN'

More Than 1500 Little Ones Take Advantage of Tribune's Matinees.

It was estimated this afternoon that more than 1500 school children had taken advantage of The TRIBUNE'S big special "kiddies' matinee" at the showing of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," now closing its second engagement at the Auditorium theater. The play will close Sunday night and there will be two performances New Year's eve, instead of the usual single showing.

The big theater was crowded yesterday with youngsters who had gained admission on The Tribune's coupons, printed earlier in the week. All voted their hearty enjoyment of the big production which, as an educational feature, had been endorsed by the local school authorities.

The fact that "The Four Horsemen," although containing scenes representing action in the late war, is not a war picture, but is an argument for permanent world peace, was emphasized today by the management as one of the reasons why every boy and girl should witness the play.

Paul Steindorff's 50-piece orchestra is interpreting the musical score of the big Metro production, while special musical numbers are provided during the brief intermission. The picture is of 12-reel length.

Petitioners Ask Tax on Municipal Public Utilities

Referendum Sought to Place City Property Under Rail Board's Control.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 28 (By the Associated Press).—Two initiative petitions, one declaring all municipally owned utilities in California to be public utilities and another to compel such utilities to pay taxes to the state the same as privately owned public utilities, were filed today with Secretary of State Jordan. The petitions seek to place the measures, which are in the form of constitutional amendments, on the November, 1922, ballot.

Both were filed from San Diego county. One contained 5255 signatures and the other 5189 names of voters. The measure declaring municipally owned utilities to be public utilities would place these utilities under the control and supervision of the State Railroad Commission, the same as the privately owned utilities, and would give the commission the right to fix the rates charged by such publicly owned utilities.

Wife Says Beating Real, Not Rehearsed

Testimony that her husband told her that she was on a lower spiritual plane than himself, and that she was a millstone around his neck was given in Superior Judge T. W. Haver's courtroom this morning by Mary Webster Challacombe during the hearing on her divorce suit against Robert J. Challacombe, a pattern-maker, at 702 Second street.

One while Challacombe was beating her, she told the court, then, she was attracted by the comedian, rushed to their apartment and was told by Challacombe that they were "merely" rehearsing for a theatrical act.

Millionaire Oil Magnate Gives Bracelet to Beauty

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—Emmeleen Childs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Red Cross nurse, received a $20,000 diamond bracelet as a present from William Miller Graham, 55 years old, millionaire oil magnate who has divorced his wife, April, after 32 years of married life. The gift became known when Miss Childs sought to get insurance on the bracelet from a broker in Los Angeles, where she is now living, and caused much amazement in local society circles.

Miss Childs' parents refused to make any comment on the gift from the millionaire oil man. Miss Childs, who is famous as a beauty, went overseas in 1917 as a war nurse. She served with distinction and was decorated and entertained by the King and Queen of Belgium.

NO MORE FOREIGNERS

A warning to American girls to steer away from international marriages was voiced today by Mrs. Gladys Gray, who arrived in San Francisco from Australia, en route to Minden, Nev., where she will seek a divorce. The matrimonial ship of Mrs. Gray, who is now in G. A. Gray, an Australian millionaire, came to grief during a trip around the world.

"Then get my divorce," she said. "I will never marry again for me. If anything should happen that I do change my mind, I will be an American the next time. International marriages are a big mistake. I know from practical experience."

DANCER ABANDONS STAGE

Miss Alice Chamberlain, graduate student of the University of California from Michigan, has danced her way through college, but now is going to abandon her Terpsichorean talent to become a professor in history. Miss Chamberlain earned her way through college by her classical dancing, but did not have to. She came from a prominent family at Kalamazoo, Mich., but declares that she gains greater satisfaction out of the fact that she finished school without expense to her parents.

Between the professional stage as a dancer and that of a historian she was undecided until recently. Finally she chose the latter, and will become a professor in history.

Election Contest Methods Assailed

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—The legal phases of the election contest going on before Superior Judge Walter F. Johnson were probed this afternoon when Attorney Richard O'Connor objected to the method of procedure. O'Connor represents Frank H. Harris, the ninth supervisor to be elected. He contends that the petitioners for a recount have no right to select at random the precincts to be counted, but must proceed in an orderly way, taking them as they come. Today the first precinct of the twenty-seventh district was counted, but with no staggering results. The contest is being brought by John G. Welmore, Frank Tracey and Phil Sohr, defeated candidates for supervisors.

STATE WITNESS IN NIGHTINGALE CASE IS GRILLED

Attempt Made to Impeach the Credulity of Shemiel Barbour.

This morning's session of the Nightingale trial completed the testimony to be introduced by the prosecution by means of witnesses, leaving only the introduction into evidence of Joseph Suppo's direct statement before the defense opens. The last witness for the prosecution was Mrs. Lizzie Herndon, of 818 Castro street, who told of arriving shortly after the shooting occurred.

Attempts by counsel for Police-man Charles F. Nightingale to impeach the credibility of Shemiel Barbour, prosecution witness in the police officer's murder trial for the shooting of Joseph Suppo, occupied the greater part of this morning's session of the trial in Superior Judge Lincoln S. Church's court room.

Barbour repeatedly denied that he had told one of Nightingale's attorneys that if the Nightingale trial had been a hold-up, a few hys would go to England, so the prosecution would not be able to make use of his testimony against Nightingale. He was then shown a copy of the transcript of previous testimony given by him at the time Nightingale's case was set for trial, in which he had admitted having made the offer. Judge Church frequently had to admonish Barbour for his excited remarks.

SHOOTING DESCRIBED

On direct examination Barbour told practically the same story as other witnesses concerning the events immediately following the shooting of Joseph Suppo in the front yard of his (Barbour's) home at 110 Eighth street on the evening of July 11. He said that when he heard shouts and commotion outside, he had rushed to the window with a shotgun, believing there was a hold-up. He saw Suppo lying prostrate on the ground.

In the sworn statement made to Deputy District Attorney Frank Shay by George Albers, witness for the prosecution, Albers declared that Police-man Mike Connolly had visited Joe Roban's saloon at Fifth and Brush streets shortly after the shooting. Nightingale and Police-man George Hall were in the place at the time.

"Connolly walked in the door, and I never saw a more surprised man for my life when he saw those two there," said Albers.

When Shay asked Albers if Nightingale was staggering at Roban's just before the shooting occurred, Albers replied:

"Yes, Nightingale was staggering drunk that night—he was pretty well drunk."

Sailors On Joy Ride Ditch Traffic Cops

Three sailors on a joy ride ran down E. and Lester, Maining state traffic officers, into the ditch on the Dublin Canyon road last night and sped away in gay abandon. Biko and Manning, when they had turned their car around, gave chase and overtook R. Devanny, one of the men, where he had alighted from the machine. The other two got away. Devanny was taken to the county jail, but was later released on Biko's order since he was not the driver of the machine.

Victim of Machine Accident Recovering

The condition of E. R. Root, East Fourteenth street and Sixth avenue, severely cut and bruised in an automobile accident recently was announced today as improved. Root was run down by a machine driven by Mrs. Nettie Haven, 180 East Willam street, San Jose, and was taken to the Emergency hospital by Mrs. Nellie Flynn and her son, Joseph, who were driving by. Erroneously it was previously reported that Root was struck by the Flynn machine. This was not correct.

Bank Loses Suit in Crossing Accident

WILSON MISUSED, RABBI DECLARES

America's silence today on the anniversary of Woodrow Wilson's birthday was criticized by Dr. Rudolph I. Coffee, rabbi of Temple Sinai, speaking before the luncheon of the Progressive Business Men's Club at noon. Dr. Coffee acclaimed the former president of the United States among the foremost Americans. He said, in part:

"Today Woodrow Wilson is 65 years old. How many people this morning have given a thought to our chief executive for eight years, and commander-in-chief of our army and navy during the most stupendous years in the world's history? Only three other men have been re-elected president in the past 50 years. Yet, today, he is broken in body, a pitiful spectacle, almost forgotten by his countrymen."

"Why this shameful indifference to a man who fought our battles? Are we so small as only to exaggerate his faults? Of course he made errors. But he should have made drastic cabinet changes when the war commenced and pardoned Debs, and he appointed 'deserving Democrats' to office. Wilson's birthday should emphasize his fine and glorious traits of character."

"The conference at Washington today is breathing the idealist atmosphere of Woodrow Wilson, if not his spirit. It will rank him among our foremost Americans, the man who did most to bind together the entire forces of the allied armies."

"Wilson's work was the foundation on which we shall ultimately build the world's peace. America's silence on this birthday of her former president is her national shame."

MATRONS MUST SHARE SALARY, COURT DECIDES

Wives who go out to work for "pin money" take notice! Superior Judge T. W. Harris today announced from the bench that money earned by the wife is community property just the same as that earned by the husband. This means, according to Judge Harris, that a wife has no more legal right to spend all her own earnings on herself than her husband has to refuse to share his pay check with her.

This opinion was handed down during the hearing of the divorce suit of Florence B. against Matville Anderson. Although Judge Harris ruled out the plaintiff's complaint to contribute to her husband's earnings to household purposes, he granted her an interlocutory decree on the ground of desertion, permitting her to resume her maiden name, Florence B. Anderson. The couple was married in San Jose in 1918.

Montague, aged 50, of London, England, who is an invalid, the remainder of the income to be divided equally between Mrs. Montague and Mary Montague Davis, a daughter, of Arlington, Mass., up to an amount equal to that paid to Henry B. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, that Ohio operators would not meet him at Pittsburgh January 8.

W. D. McKinney, secretary of the exchange, in writing Lewis, said that when it came time to make a new wage agreement with the miners, they would deal directly with the mine owners instead of handling the matter through the Central Competitive Field, as they have done in the past. The Central Competitive Field represents Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois fields, and representatives of miners and operators from these districts have always met in joint session and fixed wages and working agreements.

McKinney said that the Southern Ohio operators will deal with mines in their own district alone in making new wage contracts.

Arbuckle to Attack Finger-print Evidence

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—Charles Brennan, one of the state's best known criminologists, today for Los Angeles on business connected with the second trial of the film comedian, which begins on January 3. It is hinted that Brennan will attack the evidence of fingerprinting in the new trial. The humor is that the defense will base its attack on fingerprint evidence that has been brought forward by the prosecution. Arbuckle protests that the fingerprints found on the door of room 1213 in the St. Francis hotel are not his.

COACHING SYSTEM GIVEN CREDIT FOR SUCCESS OF THE BRUINS

NO CHANCE OF HACK MILLER GOING TO LOS ANGELES IF CUBS WANT TO GET RID OF HIM

BLUE AND GOLD HAS TRAINED STAFF OF COACH SPECIALISTS

Coach Must Concentrate On One Spot to Get to the Top Under Modern Conditions.

By DOUG. MONTELL.

It has been said that the athletic policy of a University is reflected in the character of the men comprising the coaching staff. Assuming this statement to be true one finds at the University of California the highest ideals in all branches of sport. Not only the men in charge of the various branches of athletics at the State university at the head of their profession but they are the type that builds character in the men who are training under them. It is easy to say clean athletics are to be desired in every educational institution and here on the coast sport followers have the best example of living up to this rule to the letter. Not only does California stand solidly on this platform but she is backed by Stanford, Washington, Washington State and the other colleges of the Conference.

In these days of keen competition with bidding for prep school talent going on between the various universities and colleges, the life of a coach in any branch of sport is far from being a bed of roses. Intense competition is coming more and more into prominence and tips around are being given to the coaches of the various sports. It is expected of every coach that he shall turn out a winning team or produce the answer why he failed. Lack of material often works a great handicap on a coach and when he is confronted with this proposition it is not natural that the temptation to coach crooked methods should appear. However, the coaches of the West have fought free of this temptation is seen by the way all collegiate sports in the West are free from that taint.

West Has Stood For Clean Sport.

During the last many years, how many we cannot say offhand, there has been no severance of relations or charges made on account of any alleged dirty work on the athletic fields of any of the coast institutions. It is a great credit to the institutions and a great credit to the men in charge of collegiate athletics in the West. Rivalry has been keen, games have been close, opportunities for dirty work have been present, but have not been taken by the men or by the coaches. California has always stood for the best in sport, play the game hard, play it clean and may the best team win. It is a passing motto over the long period of time for which good teams may go down to defeat occasionally by playing according to the rules. It is a greater credit to lose fairly than to have any suspicion cast on a game won.

Andy Smith Attained Success at Last.

Andy Smith has always emphasized this policy at California and his success can be attributed to the manner in which he has handled the situation during his five years at California. Boles Rosenfield and Nils Price, his two assistants, are capable coaches as could be desired and the combination has been a happy one for the Blue and Gold. Two years of straight wins are chalked up to the credit of this combination and Andy Smith said at the close of the football season that he would keep his staff intact at the Blue and Gold football

Berkeley Team Is Willing to Play Off Tie

Northern Players Are Anxious for Return Battle; Authorities Will Give Consent.

Berkeley high school's football squad will be pleased to meet the Bakersfield high school squad in a playoff game settling last Saturday's scoreless game, for the intercollegiate championship of California. C. L. Biedenbach, principal of the school, announced last night.

He said, however, the uncertain condition of the weather restrained him from inviting the Bakersfield team to another game in Berkeley. The weather "freaked" the last one—and it was not his place to invite Bakersfield to meet Berkeley in any other city.

Should Bakersfield invite Berkeley, however, he said, Berkeley "would be there."

The sentiment of the Berkeley high players is almost unanimous for a return game with Bakersfield. Captain Mitchell and Thatcher are understood to be opposed to the idea. Thatcher being considerably worse for wear as a result of the battle of last week. While there is the reason why the game should be replayed, the Berkeley players admit that they believe they outplayed Bakersfield and on a dry field are confident that they would be able to put over a clean-cut victory.

Walt Christie the Veteran of Them All.

Walter Christie is the veteran of all California's coaches. Coming from Princeton more than twenty-two years ago, Walt Christie has had a slope of ups and downs. Seven years straight Walt was downed by the Cardinal on the track. Many times it was by a close margin, often the breaks went against him and often injuries or lack of material hurt the chances of California. Despite reverses, Walt Christie continued to produce the best team the material afforded and success has at last come to the veteran coach. His triumph was made complete last year, when his ten-man team went East and in the Harvard stadium took the intercollegiate from the best track team in the country. Dual meets with Michigan and Illinois resulted in California victories for the last two years and it is probable that the policy of intercollegiate dual track meets will be continued.

Ben Wallis Saved Crew at Berkeley.

Crew presents a clear case of a coach who not only brought his eight in the rating of one of the best in the country, but who receives the credit for having the sport maintained on a major status. Ben Wallis, a Yale man, has been in charge of California's crew since he first came to the West. It appeared for a while that this policy at California and his success can be attributed to the manner in which he has handled the situation during his five years at California. Boles Rosenfield and Nils Price, his two assistants, are capable coaches as could be desired and the combination has been a happy one for the Blue and Gold. Two years of straight wins are chalked up to the credit of this combination and Andy Smith said at the close of the football season that he would keep his staff intact at the Blue and Gold football

MEET THE RIVAL COACHES

CLEANINGS from the SPORT FIELD

By Bob Skand

Padded mitts will not come in contact with fragile chins at the Stadium this evening as the rival Wednesday night services, conducted by Tommy Simpson, having been postponed until Monday afternoon. On account of the holiday Simpson thought he would give the customers a chance to recuperate. Incidentally he does not think it is quite appropriate for one young gent to bang another on the nose in these days of good will towards all men.

The Monday matinee will feature Eddie Diggins and Teddy O'Hara while Sammy Pelsinger and Buck Holley will star in a return bout. Jimmy Kelsey and Joe Lynch is another attractive match on the same card.

Spider Roach, local lightweight, who has been cast for a pair of years in home for the holidays, Roach suffered a broken nose recently and will be out of the game for a month at least.

A writer in a Dallas (Tex.) paper recently wrote an article on the climate of the Los Angeles club. He wished on his home town or something. Anyhow, some anonymous correspondent who is a hater of "Oaklander" killed in Dallas, Tex., clipped the following from his morning paper and sent it to the sporting editor:

One hundred thousand dollars in cash and players. This is what President Joe Patrick of the Los Angeles club desires. The Cubs are paying for Arnold Stutz.

Consider Stutz a moment. Look back to the spring of 1920. The Giants are making northward and in the outfield is a youngster without professional experience. Arnold Stutz has just joined the club. Like Frank Frisch, he is a native son. McGraw cannot see in him what he finds in the Fordham Plash. Stutz drifts from the Cubs' roster. McGraw's bluff will not echo to his name—yet.

Two years pass. Today Stutz is billed at a hundred thousand dollars. Los Angeles Small wonder that the penniless Spurr Shethers declares that it is no use bringing anything to a baseball trade nowadays except a check book.

Football Coaches Are Against Professional Gridiron Exhibitions

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Consent to professional football as a menace to the collegiate sport was the first move taken last night after the organization of the American Football Coaches' Association.

It was recommended that college players playing professional football have their letters taken away and officials who worked in programs be removed from the eligible list for collegiate games.

Officials elected were: President, Major James Daly of West Point; Vice-President, John Hulsman, Pennsylvania; Secretary-Treasurer, J. W. Wilson, Ohio State; Board of Trustees, Robert L. Fisher, Harvard, and J. C. H. Voss, Michigan.

Changes in rules governing the shift, clipping and interference with defending players during the game were discussed but no action was taken.

McMillin Wedding To Be Big Affair

FORT WORTH, Texas, Dec. 28.—Preparations for an elaborate wedding for Bo McMillin, Centre College football star, and Miss Maud Harte, a Fort Worth girl, who will be married here January 2, are being made. Hundreds of friends of the famous Kentucky college star from all over the country will attend the wedding, it was stated yesterday.

Smith Lets 'Em In; Shows Them Nothing About Inside Stuff

PASADENA, Dec. 28.—A variation of his rule of secrecy for the practice of the University of California football team in preparation for its game here next Monday with the Washington and Jefferson college was put into effect by Coach Smith yesterday when he permitted local and visiting newspaper men and photographers to attend and take notes and pictures. Smith still keeps secret the scene of practice, however, making no announcements as to whether he expects the Bears to new fields every day that men who would like a preliminary view of the Blue and Gold warriors in action—that they are not working out at Tournament park, where they will meet the invading easterners. Hard and fast work, Smith has mapped out for his men.

Wash. and Jeff. Man Down With Pneumonia

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 28.—C. L. Spillers of Wheeling, W. Va., one of the best substitutes ends of the Washington and Jefferson college football team, is in the Christian Hospital, Kansas City, Ill., with pneumonia, according to word received here today. The W. & J. team is en route to Pasadena to play the University of California January 2. Manager R. M. Murphy has wired to Washington, Pa., asking that Al Haddon, Toledo boy, start for Pasadena immediately.

EWING KILLS STORY THAT ANGELS MIGHT GET "HACK" MILLER

Oaks Will Not Get Remaining Three Players From Chicago Cubs Until the Spring

By EDDIE MURPHY.

There seems to be considerable fear among the Oakland fans that Lawrence (Hack) Miller, for five years outfielder and slugger, in-chief for the Oakland baseball club, will not be sent back to the local club providing he fails to stick in the major leagues. Many fans have remarked that he believes the Chicago Cubs will slip over on the Oaks just as did the Detroit Tigers when they laid claim to Ernie Alten and turned right around and handed him to the San Francisco Seals. One of the eastern scribes has hinted in his column that the Cubs intend to ship Miller to the Los Angeles club if he fails to make good as a major leaguer. News of that yarn reached J. Cal Ewing last night, and the Oakland club president got hot. "Hack will never go to any club in the minor leagues next season without the Oaks having something to say about it and I know what chance there is of us passing the big fellow up if we get him back," said Ewing.

Nobody realizes more than does Cal Ewing that a bowl would be made by the Oakland club if Miller were to return to some other club in the Coast league next season, and for that reason he made it understood with the owners of the Chicago Cubs that Miller must return to the Oaks if any minor club is to get him.

Ewing Does Not Expect Miller to Come to Minors.

As part payment for Hack Miller the Chicago Cubs are to give the Oakland club five ball players who must all prove satisfactory to the local owners. Marietta and Brown have already been handed over and will be ready to play for the local club. The remaining three players will not be forthcoming until March, when the Chicago Cubs will be here to play exhibition games as part of their training schedule. Ewing said last night that the Oaks could get their other three men handed over right now if they wished, but he and Del Howard would rather wait until the Cubs are here and they will be able to look for some of the players whom the Cubs might want to hand over. "It is better," said Ewing, "to have a player who is better than the one we have now. As a run-scoring, the youth, Stutz was only four behind Miller and the latter played in thirty more games and got on base more times through his work as a hit. However, both players will go with the best wishes of every Oakland fan to make good, for of them were big favorites out here and now that they have served patrons of the 'best league' fan, really they are entitled to be higher into the baseball hall of fame."

Uncle Sam's Ventura

HERE'S what the U. S. Geological Survey says about the quality of California Paraffin-Base Oil:

"Although the productive area in this new field (Ventura County) will not likely be very large, the high quality Paraffin-Base Oil obtained makes this field a valuable addition to the California Resources."

The field referred to is the one that produces the crude oil from which the Ventura Refining Company manufactures "Ventura" Paraffin-Base Motor Oil.

Because Paraffin-Base Motor Oil first came from the East, many motorists have fallen into the habit of asking for "Eastern" instead of "Paraffin-Base" Oil.

Since many "Eastern" oils are not Paraffin Base, it's safer for you to ask for "Paraffin Base" rather than "Eastern"—or better still, to ask for "Ventura" Motor Oil, which is pure Paraffin-Base Oil, guaranteed by a reputable Company.

—it's "there" for wear.

Holding a Husband

by Adele Garrison

That the sight of his admiring look embarrassed and piqued me, made me furious with myself, I cared nothing for Dr. Pettit, and had never given a second thought to his personality and his professional position, as a person whose opinion I could not truthfully make about Allen Drake or Maj. Grantland. Innocuous as my friendship with both of them had been—because I was so sure that I could find myself anywhere else than in the role of gossip—by the drive back to the Thier house.

In my desire to appear matter-of-factly and with no pretensions, as I moved toward the car as I saw them coming, I climbed into the driver's seat and turned the ignition switch. At the sound of the starting engine, Dr. Pettit said:

"That's right," he said. "You are very thoughtful. I am exceedingly anxious to make Sag Harbor as quickly as possible."

I hesitated, and I interpreted his thought.

"Won't you drive, then," I asked. "I would not dare to drive as fast as you could with perfect safety."

"If you really do not mind," he said, with relief spreading over his countenance. "If you and Miss Foster will just climb into the tonneau then, I've got something to think out, and can't talk this trip."

A BREATHELESS DRIVE

His face held the professional absorption which I often had seen upon it in the old times, and I knew that no woman's charm, no matter how potent, could stir him in this gridding up of his powers for the next battle with Death which he must wage. I looked quickly, furtively at Miss Foster to see how she would relish this sudden shunting of her to the background. She was gazing at the physician with a speculative appraising look, in which I detected no resentment. It was the look

I climbed obediently down from the driver's seat and entered the tunnel, closely followed by Mr. Foster. Dr. Pettit did not wait for the closing of the tunnel doors before hurrying after us. At the first time we left the hospital gate till we arrived, breathless and shaken, at the Tiger farm. I gripped the side of the car, expecting every minute to be hurled into another world. He drove me to his room, and I wondered what attention he could bestow upon any minor problem while going at such breakneck speed. Yet I was sure he was studying his problem as calmly and thor-

I was afraid, and I think I showed it. But apparently the speed he was making was only a fillip to Miss Foster's spirits. She sat erect, swaying with each swerve of the car, her eyes sparkling, her lips smiling. That the physician's skill in safely driving the car at such speed was making a most potent appeal to her was plain-ity to be seen, and again a sense of pity for my old friend swept over me.

TURNED FAREWELLS.

Miss Foster was the sort of girl to admire and fall in love with the splendid animal type of man, able to excel in all sorts of athletic contests. If she had been bred in the bull-fighting countries, the prize-winning matador would have been her ideal hero. Stald, sombre Dr. Pettit, with his skill in driving almost his only spectacular achievement, was doomed to disappointment, it seemed to me, if he set his heart upon the glowing girl beside me.

As he stopped the car before the Tleer gate he descended hurriedly, tossing a word of apology back over his shoulder.

"I'm sorry not to take your car in, Mrs. Graham, but I know you won't mind. Hurry, Miss Foster, please. If you're coming with me."

He strode across the lawn—I never have seen him run—to his own car, climbed into it, and set the engine running. Miss Foster had waited for a hasty farewell to me, yet she was before him, for she had skinned across the lawn like a lizard to be-made no comment until the curiosity of the entire family had been satisfied and we were once more in our own quarters, with Marion absorbed outside in being taught how to milk. Then Lillian spoke nonchalantly, although the subject had but a cursory interest for her:

In another half-minute Miss Foster's handkerchief was waving a fluttering farewell through a cloud of dust, and I turned to face the battery of inquiries with which the Tickers and Marion were waiting for me.

"Is Dr. Pettit as interested in that young woman as he appears to be?"

I tried hard to answer Lillian's question concerning Dr. Pettit's apparent interest in Miss Foster with as casual a manner as she had employed, but I was miserably conscious of a heightened color and embarrassed eyes, though my words were indifferent enough.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

The Gift of Tongues.

Over in France the average doughboy had a gorgeous confidence in his ability to speak the language of the country. In a Norman village one day a perplexed looking private, who had not been abroad very long, approached a seasoned campaigner of the A. F. F. and asked the latter if he spoke French.

"Sure, I speak French," said the veteran.

"Here's what's the matter," said the green soldier. "The Frog that keeps that shop yonder across the street sold me some post-cards, and I gave him a ten-franc note, and now he's holding out part of my money on me. I wish you'd come on over there with me and straighten the thing out and make that guy hand me what's coming to me."

"Sure, I will," said the other.

Moved by curiosity, a friend of mine trailed behind them, arriving just in time to hear the following dialogue between the linguist and the storekeeper:

"Parley voo Fransay?"

"Oui, oui, monsieur."

"Then, why the hell don't you give this here boy his right change?"

A FEW EXAMPLES OF "ACCEPTANCE IN PRINCIPLE"

My Dear Mr. Jones

Your request for advancement and increase in salary has been given most careful consideration. In view of your excellent conduct, unswerving loyalty and remarkable efficiency, we feel that your request for a small increase in salary and advance from the position you have held these past twenty five years deserves some recognition.

Therefore it gives me great pleasure to inform you that your proposal of a small increase in salary and slight advancement is accepted—in principle. Of course, we will not pay this increased sum for two or three years to come. Also your advancement at this time would jeopardize the balance in our organization, so it is also a grave question in our mind whether we should consider the practical acceptance of this question before—say 1925. However, we feel that you will be very glad to know that your proposal meets with our entire favor and that we accept it enthusiastically in principle. Very truly yours,

THE COMMONWEALTH CORPORATION.

By the President

Dear Mr. Clampitt:

Your letter stating that unless our account is paid within thirty days you will be compelled to bring suit, has been received and given our careful consideration. I know that you will be pleased to learn that we have unanimously agreed to accept the proposition—in principle. Of course, you understand, you may not expect any money for—say nine months, or three or four years, and that if you are compelled to sue, you can sue and be gosh darned. But this does not alter our position. We still accept your proposal in principle, and we feel that you will be delighted with this prompt and satisfactory solution of the situation. Very truly yours,

By CHARLES A. GODWISH.

My Dear John:

You asked me to give you your answer by mail. I have thought it over very carefully and earnestly and I feel sure that you will be delighted to learn that I accepted your proposal—in principle. I also want you to congratulate me and wish me happiness. I am to marry darling George next Monday. Of course, you understand, this does not prevent me from accepting your proposal—in principle. I fear, however, that George might object if you should lose sight of the fact that this acceptance is after all—just in principle.

Very sincerely, KATHARINE.

SPLENDID CAREER OPEN TO WRITERS OF SCREEN STORIES

Photoplays of Next 20 Years To Be Written By Today's Pupils.

All rights in Scenario-Story manuscripts remain with the author.
No manuscripts will be returned. KEEP A COPY.

The TRIBUNE reader who writes a SCENARIO-STORY for the $5000 cash prizes offered by this newspaper, has taken the first step toward a career that will mean fame and fortune.

Photoplays of the next twenty years are going to be written by the boys and girls now in school and college. These students must be trained in the ways of the film—and there is no better training than the actual writing of SCENARIO-STORIES.

Frank E. Woods, supervising director at the West Coast studios of the Famous Players-Lasky organization, says that original stories, not famous books or successful plays, will be the basis of the motion pictures of the future.

CONGRATULATES TRIBUNE. Congratulating The TRIBUNE on its $5000 offer to writers of SCENARIO-STORIES, Woods telegraphed the following statement: "We are coming more and more to the original story written especially for the screen. It is a movement that is making for better pictures. In fact, it is the result of the determination of the higher class producing organizations to make better pictures."

These original stories will come from both inside and outside the industry. At the highest type of authors are coming to appreciate the opportunity offered them by the motion picture. They are realizing the necessity of spending as much time in writing for the screen as in writing a novel. The result is that authors are seeking greater remuneration for their screen stories and also are enhancing their reputations.

Another result, of course, is that quantity is giving way to quality. A great obstacle to the past has been that writing has been done too hastily, both by those who write for the screen and those who write novels and plays.

Writers for the screen are beginning to realize the necessity of taking more time to do better work. Their improved work will make the demand for original stories greater. This is one of the many reasons why I say the field for the original writer will be opened up as it never has in the past, and will offer greater opportunities. The original writer in motion pictures is here!

THOUSANDS TO ENTER. Registration blanks are arriving by the scores, indicating that hundreds and thousands will take advantage of The TRIBUNE's offer of $5000 in cash for SCENARIO-STORIES.

The fact that no technical training in scenario writing is necessary is being emphasized. Scarcely a person but who has an idea or a plot for a picture. It may be an incident out of his own life, or out of the life of a friend. Told in a dramatic manner, with an eye to its screenability, this incident stands a good chance of winning $500, or $250, or $150, or one of the $50 or $25 prizes.

Read The TRIBUNE every day—the news columns abound with real incidents and situations that can be turned into SCENARIO-STORIES.

LET THE SUMMER BEGIN. Don't write your story hurriedly; you have until February 28 to send in your manuscript. Let the idea simmer in your mind until you have realized its possibilities. Go to the motion picture theaters and study the construction of screen plays. Keep a note book and jot down your ideas.

Study your characters and the lives they lead. Is your central figure to be a waiter? Study a waiter in real life and at close hand. Is he to be a banker? Study a real banker. An athlete? Study an athlete with an athlete and get his point of view. Ask him what he would do

PICTURIZE STORY AS YOU WRITE IT, AUTHOR'S ADVICE

Tribune Writer Tells How To Visualize: Dramatic Value Essential.

(College students, children and adults entering The TRIBUNE scenario contest should read all these articles on "writing for the movies," and especially the one by a TRIBUNE reporter, who visited the big studios in Los Angeles and Hollywood to learn the truth.)

By GEORGE C. HENDERSON.
CHAPTER III

I said that a screen play must be new. This is nothing new under the sun. It is a maxim that it has been repeated in various forms by humorists and pathetic paraphraser since paragraphing became a 20th century passion.

So even Rule No. 1 must be taken with a grain of salt. If your presentation of an old plot is so original that it demands attention, then the newness is a secondary factor. It is well to remember, however, that the less desiccated an idea is, the better chance it has to grow into a flickering film story.

DRAMATIC VALUE. Do not be intimidated by a discussion of dramatic values. The Century dictionary defines drama as follows:

"A story put into action a story of human life told by actual representation of persons, places, gestures and surroundings." Homer (the Greek author) classifies the Iliad as "dramatic" because it is full of human action, governed by natural motives and representing the life of that period. That definition is fair enough.

To determine the dramatic value of your story you should analyze each paragraph and ask yourself: "Is this sentence interesting, humorous, pathetic or instructive?" Does it help drive home the truth of the theme? Would the story be injured if it were retold in a different location? The most attractive that you can imagine? Do the characters act truly, logically and in a manner to stimulate interest?

VISUALIZE STORY. In writing a story for motion pictures, you must visualize each scene as if it were a painting in a tale of 2000 words you cannot enter into an elaborate description but you yourself can have the setting of the story so firmly in mind that you can close your eyes and imagine how it would appear when photographed.

Compare this mental picture which you have of your opening scene with that of "Hitchin' Posts," one of the screen's famous plays.

PICKENS LANDING, NIGHT, MOON, FADE IN.

A river steamer ablaze with lights has tied up to take on wood for fuel. In foreground are piles of cordwood which a gang of negroes in tattered clothes and bare feet are carrying to the main deck of the steamer. Pine knots, burning in iron baskets hung from poles furnish the light. The negroes are happy and singing as they work."

Compare this mental picture which you have of your opening scene with that of "Hitchin' Posts," one of the screen's famous plays.

Which ship was it, the Northern Pacific or Great Northern, that went on the rocks outside New York harbor on New Year's day, 1919? asks a TRIBUNE reader.

It was the steamship Northern Pacific.

"Could you tell me if there is a paper published in De Ruyter, New York?"

"The Gleaner" is published weekly, on Thursday, at that place.

"In what county of Maine is Chesuncook Lake and how long is the lake?"

Chesuncook Lake, is in Piscataquis county, Me., and is about 13 miles long. It is irregular in shape and is surrounded by about a dozen other lakes connected in one drainage system.

The TRIBUNE Information Bureau will answer all questions of a general nature except school or legal problems, debates, trade and firm names and queries as to timeliness of day.

The bureau is open every day except Sunday, from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. If answers are desired by mail, stamps must be enclosed. Quick results can be obtained by telephoning to the bureau. If you have any problems of a general nature to solve ask The TRIBUNE Information Bureau, Lakeside 602.

SPEAKING CLASS TO START. The University Extension Division announces that a class in public speaking will start Thursday, January 5, at 7:30 p. m. in room 105, Hotel Oakland. Jean Campbell Macmillan, who has been instructing classes in dramatic work for the extension division, will conduct the class.

Persons who are interested in taking the course should enroll as early as possible at the Extension Division office at 408 Fifteenth street.

Chaplin Receives 73,000 Letters of Which 671 Are Sent by Relatives

(This is the twenty-second installment of Charlie Chaplin's own story back in California, and so far I have been pretty much satisfied with her. There were letters addressed just to Charlie Chaplin, some to King Charlie, some to the "King of Comedy," on some there was drawn the picture of a battered dandy, some carried a reproduction of my shoes and came and in some there was stuck a white feather with the question as to what I was doing during the war.

The next morning for the first time I am made to give my attention to the mail that has been arriving. We have been obliged to have another room added to our suite in order to have some place in which to keep the numerous sacks that are being brought to us at all hours.

The pile is becoming so mountainous that we are compelled to engage half a dozen stenographers just for the purpose of reading and classifying them.

We found that there were 73,000 letters or cards addressed to me during the first three days in London, and of this number more than 23,000 were begging letters—letters begging anywhere from $1 to $100,000.

Countless and varied were the reasons set forth. Some were ridiculous. Some were amusing. Some were pathetic. Some were insulting. All of them in earnest.

I discovered from the mail that there are 671 relatives of mine in England that I knew nothing about. The greater part of these were cousins and they gave very detailed family tree tracings in support of their claims. All of them wished to be set up in business or to get into the movies.

But the cousins did not have a monopoly on the relationships. There were brothers and sisters and aunts and uncles and there were nine claiming to be my mother, telling wondrous adventure stories about my being stolen by Gypsies when a baby or being left on doosteps, until I began to think my youth had been very hectic affair. But I did not worry much about these latter as I make you rich and famous. You had better phone me for quick action.

"Your truly." "Dear Mr. Chaplin: Won't you please let me have enough money to send little Oscar to college. Little Oscar is 12 and the neighbors all say that he is the brightest little boy they have ever seen. And he can imitate you so well that we don't have to go to the movies any more. (This is dangerous. Oscar is a real competitor, running my business) and so if you can't send the little fellow to college, won't you take him in the movies with you like you did Jackie Coogan?"

"Dear Mr. Chaplin: My brother is a sailor and he is the only man in the world who knows where Capt. Kidd's gold is buried. He has charts and maps and everything necessary, including a pick and shovel. But he cannot pay for the boat."

"Will you pay for the boat and half the gold is yours. All you need do is say yes to me in a letter and I will go out and look for John as he is off somewhere on a boat, being a what you might call a drinking man when ashore. But I am sure that I can find him as he and I drink in the same places. Your shipmate."

"Dear Charlie: Have you ever thought of the money to be made in peanuts? I know the peanut industry, but I am not telling any of my business in a letter. If you are interested in becoming a peanut king, then I'm your man. Just address me as Snapper Doige, above address."

"Dear Mr. Chaplin: My daughter has been helping me about my boarding house now for several years and I may say that she understands the art of catering to the public as well as to the private. But she wishes to stay in quarters. But she has such high-toned ideas, like as putting up curtains in the bath-room and such that at times I think she is too good for the boarding house business and should be having her own hotel to run."

"If you could see your way to buy a hotel in London or New York for Drusilla, I am sure that before long your name and Drusilla's would be linked together all over the world because of what Drusilla would do to the hotel business. And she would have money because she could make all the beds and cook herself and at night she could invent the touches like what I have mentioned. Drusilla is waiting for you to call her."

"Dear Mr. Chaplin: I am enclosing pawn checks for grandma's false teeth and our silver water pitcher, also a rent bill showing that our rent was due yesterday. Of course, we would rather have you pay our rent first, but if you could, as spare it, our grandma's teeth would be acceptable, and we can't hold our heads up among the neighbors since father hooked our silver pitcher to get some beer."

What investment for your Christmas check?

MAYBE we are prejudiced, but we have been observing, for over half a century, the enormous importance of music to the home.

For music, whether in the form of a piano, a good player piano, a Victrola, or a small instrument, is one gift that gives to all.

Now that you have your Christmas check and are debating the best investment for it, consider carefully what a good piano, player piano, or Victrola will mean to you and all who dwell with you.

Or, consider the following:

Violin	Cornet	Music Book
Saxophone	Drum	Music Roll, Bag
Mandolin	Bugle	Music Stand
Guitar	Music Cabinet	Piano Scarf
Ukulele	Piano Bench	Record Album
Banjo	Sheet Music	Player Rolls
	Duo-Art Rolls

Convenient terms can be arranged upon any reasonable balance, if desired.

PRESENT-DAY STUDENT HELD MOST EARNEST

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23.—That the college axiom, so-called, "I cannot permit my studies to interfere with my college life and social duties," has been replaced with an "Intellectual earnestness" which has come as the aftermath of the war, is the opinion of Dr. M. L. Burton, president of the University of Michigan, who left San Francisco yesterday afternoon for Portland, accompanied by Mrs. Burton and their three children.

The young men and women now attending in institutions of higher education are of the most mature generation the world has ever known, according to the noted educator. The standards of higher education are being raised and students are being taught to think in broad terms, he stated.

Dr. Burton attributes the change, which he believes is the beginning of a new era, to the experiences of the 2,000,000 young men who formed the American expeditionary force, and to the sentiment which grew up among the adult generation in America while the young men were away.

"I believe that the intellectual earnestness which can be observed in all of our colleges is real," Dr. Burton said. "Our education standards have been improved as a result. I believe that it will go on with increasing force, for though conditions are not ideal, there is an upward tendency which is irresistible."

MEXICO TO GIVE LAND TO FORMER VILLA SOLDIERS

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 23.—(By The Associated Press.)—The men who served under General Francisco Villa, former revolutionary leader, are to receive from the government tracts of land in accordance with the agreement made with Villa by the Huerta government at the time of his surrender in July, 1920. Two haciendas, one in Chihuahua and the other in Durango, will be used for the purpose and the department of agriculture has appointed a committee of engineers to divide the land. It is estimated that each man will receive approximately fifteen acres.

General Villa is living at Canutillo, on a hacienda given him by the government. At the time of his surrender his troops numbered 900.
